The mission of The Francis A. Countway Library of Medicine is to foster the advancement of education, research, scholarship and professional practice in medicine, biological sciences, public health and dentistry. The Digital Library is an important tool towards fulfilling the mission.

Q: Who gets access to the Digital Library?
A: All active Harvard faculty (including emeritus), staff, and students have access to Harvard's digital resources. A Harvard ID and PIN password or an eCommons username and password are required.

Q: What if I am a research assistant for a Harvard faculty member, but not a Harvard employee myself?
A: Research assistants for a faculty member from the Harvard Medical School, Harvard School of Dental Medicine, Harvard School of Public Health, or BML member may apply for borrowing privileges by completing the Special Borrower Card Application form. This form requires completion by both the faculty member and research assistant. Research assistants to HMS, HSDM, and HSPH faculty are then eligible for remote access to electronic resources.

Q: What about Alumni/ae?
A: Alumni/ae are not eligible for remote access to electronic resources but can apply for borrowing privileges by completing the Special Borrower Card Application form.

Q: What about access to the Countway Library in general?
A: Click Access and Privileges at Countway Library link for more information. In particular, look at the affiliation group list to see what group you might belong to and what access is available.
