The HMS Course and Clerkship Review and Evaluation Committee

Established in 2010, the HMS Course and Clerkship Review and Evaluation Committee is a standing subcommittee of the Harvard Medical School (HMS) Curriculum Committee charged with reviewing and evaluating the core courses and clerkships at HMS. Dimensions for review of each course or clerkship include goals and content; pedagogical strategies; feedback and assessment; implementation and resources; and approaches to horizontal and vertical integration, uniformity across teaching sites, and course maintenance and enhancement.

The CCREC meets periodically during the academic year and may also convene ad hoc meetings to address time sensitive issues as they arise at any time during the year.
